Ontario Council of Educational Workers (OCEW) signs tentative agreement on contract extension

TORONTO – The Ontario Council of Educational Workers (OCEW) has signed a tentative agreement to extend its collective agreement beyond its current expiry date of August 31, 2017 to August 31, 2019.

The deal was reached through negotiations among the OCEW, The Ontario Public School Boards' Association, The Ontario Catholic School Trustees' Association, The Council of Trustees' Associations, and the Crown.

Details are being withheld pending ratification. Information will be shared with union members through the ratification process.

The Ontario Council of Educational Workers is a bargaining council made up of six unions representing over 7,000 workers in 18 bargaining units at Public and Catholic School Boards across Ontario.
